February 24th- Pink Shirt Day at KPES

Years ago a new student at a rural high school in Nova Scotia was teased for wearing a pink polo shirt. After witnessing this event, two students, David Shepherd and Travis Price, decided to take a stand. They spread the word through Twitter, and Facebook encouraging peers to wear pink to school. They even purchased pink t-shirts and handed them out to students on their way to class! Before they knew it, a SEA OF PINK had swept through the halls of their high school, and a PINK DAY was born.

Travis and David started something amazing, and at K Park, we want to build on it! On February 24th let's wear pink to not only show that we can STAND UP against bullying, but to remind ourselves that STANDING OUT can be a GOOD thing! Let's celebrate what makes us unique, and be proud that there is no one else in this world like us! It will surely be a day of PINK PANTHER PRIDE!
