

→ The First Day Of School With No Teacher

On the first day of school, my class and I all got together and waited for our teacher to come get us. All of the other teachers came but to get the kids that are in their class but Mrs. Hooper didn't come. All of the kids were thinking where is Mrs. Hooper? Suprisingly one of the kids knew where the classroom so we went in and waited for Mrs. Hooper.

It was 4:30 and Mrs. Hooper still wasn't there and almost all of the boys yelled "Party"! First, everyone got on their desks and started dancing except for Daniel. Daniel has always been a party pooper we all tried to encourage him to get on his desk but he wouldn't. Instead he did math. Then, Daniel felt like he was getting left out so he left and then came back disguised as Mrs. Hooper. Mr. Ripley came around to all classes to see how they were doing. After that, right after Mr. Ripley left someone noticed that it wasn't Mrs. Hooper. It was Daniel! The whole class except for the girls laughed at him. Daniels heart was broken really bad. Finally, he left the class to talk to Mr. Ripley. Daniel said "in my class we have no teacher" but Mr. Ripley said "Mrs. Hooper is there I saw her"? "No that was me Mr. Ripley" said Daniel. "everyone was partying so I had to do something." After that long talk they went back to the class and Mr. Ripley said that Mrs. Hooper isn't in Canada anymore she moved and don't worry I'll get you a new teacher. After that day forward no one will talk to Daniel and Daniel didn't care that no one will talk to him and he felt good of himself.

~ The End ~