

The Worst Saturday!!!!

"Beep! Beep!" Yawn~ Today is an awesome morning! I got up very fast and got ready for school! I love school! Plus, it's my birthday! I'm going to have the best day at school today!

I left at 7:50. It was kind of surprising because no cars were going across the road. So I just crossed the road with no worry. I walked and walked. Since there were no cars, I could feel the fresh air tickling my nose and the birds singing! What a wonderful day!

When I saw my school named "Lakewood," I ran over to the large doors. That's when I noticed something was wrong. No cars, no people! So I thought about it. 'Hmm'. Maybe I'm really late! So I just went confidently into the large doors.

When I got inside, it was very dark! ...
Why wasn't anybody there when the doors were open and it was a school day? So I got my little pig flashlight and shone it on the stairs, the classrooms and the gym! Nothing or no one was there! I was starting to get really afraid!

Even though I wanted to get out, I just had to get things back to normal! I tried to turn the lights on, but it wouldn't turn on, so I just got the longest ladder I could find and changed the lightbulbs. Then it worked!! I was really happy! Next, I noticed there was mud everywhere! So I went to the janitor's closet and found a huge mop! I cleaned it very clean and it was so clean the floor sparkled!

That took me about 5 hours! It was 1:21 now. I said to my self, I better get going now! I have to get back to my house! So I zoomed back to my house! Surprisingly, my mom was crying! I said, "Mom? Are you okay?" She stopped crying and she almost choked! She said, "Sarah, where did you go? I was so worried about you!" and she gave me a hug!

I went up to my room! I didn't know that it was Saturday! It was my birthday, though! Oh well! I got grounded! Too bad for me!

Then a phone call came, I picked it up! Our principal, Mr. Ripley said, "Sarah! You did an awesome job! You fixed the lightbulbs and you cleaned the floor! I was supposed to do it, but I was doing some work in the office! When I finished, I saw you leaving!" I said, "Yeah, that was me!" He yelled, "Great job! I'll give you a prize on Monday!"

I was thrilled! After that, I noticed my birthday was actually on Monday and Monday was the best day! The prize was something that made me scream! I got a dog!
