

It was like a dream

Ok, so what if I told you about the absolute weirdest and strangest day at school, I think you'd be freaked out, 'cause I was!

So I was going to school, and I was waiting at the bus stop. When I got on the bus there was NOBODY on it! I was a little curious, I mean every one would be curious if you went on the bus and you couldn't see anyone. (Excepted for the blind, that happens everyday.) But you get what I mean.

It was a silent drive to the school, but when I got there. Every one WAS there, like a normal day at school.

Haley, Indy, and me decided to go to the bathroom, of course we tried to hurry, because we had a field trip to a chocolate museum! Every one wanted to go because, well you get FREE CHOCOLATE SAMPLES! So when we were in the bathroom I accidentally dropped my pencil, (and I know what your thinking, who would take a pencil to the bathroom with them, but sometimes when I'm doing work with it I don't realize that I bring it with me. Then I do notice, so I put it in my pocket but I forget it in there.) Anyway, it shattered on the floor and we had to pick up all of the pieces.

When we got back to class AGAIN, nobody was there, IN THE WHOLE SCHOOL! Then all of the sudden we heard a big noise coming from the parking lot, so we rushed out there. We saw a giant tour bus, Then.....