Life Skills	Money Matters Part 3 – Other expenses Now you have investigated how much it costs to eat, and the costs of housing when you are on your own. One last factor you need to consider is “Other expenses”. Talk to your parents, older siblings, aunts and uncles, grandparents, anyone you know who has already lived on their own. Ask them what other bills and expenses they have/had. Make a list of all the other expenses (utilities, internet, cell phone, taxes etc.) and if they are comfortable sharing with you, ask them approximately how much they spend a month on each bill. Once you have compiled the list, think about whether your bills would be the same as theirs, or more, or less. Pick an approximate price for each bill and add them together. Then add on your housing and food costs for the month. How much money will you need to live for one month on your own? Does this number surprise you? Are they reasonable? Do you think you will be able to make enough money to support yourself? Keep in mind that different people will be in different situations when they first move out on their own. Some will be in college or university. Some will go directly into the workforce. Some may begin an apprenticeship. Your ability to work may be affected by these factors. A lot of students who go away to school need to work beforehand to save the money to support themselves before they start school. If this is your case, how much money will you need to save before your first year of college or university?
Phys. Ed.	It is recommended that you complete 30 minutes of physical activity a day. This week try to do a different activity every day. This is a sample plan that you can follow or modify if you would like. You can change the order, or substitute activities you prefer, just try to get your 30 minutes of activity in each day. Monday – Cardio – Do an online exercise video, or play “Just Dance” (even just the YouTube version). Tuesday – Strength – Do a circuit of crunches, push ups, burpees, planks and squats. Wednesday – Skills – practice dribbling a basketball, shooting a soccer ball at a target or hitting a baseball. Thursday – Flexibility – Do some yoga or tai chi. Give Pilates a try if you have never tried it. Do an online class or practice some of the movements you already know. Friday – Cardio and agility – Do a circuit of sprints, T-drills, jogging, pogo jumps (back and forth over a line two footed) and shuttle runs (sprinting back and forth, changing direction).
