

Maintain KCS to Medium Term

MLA Brian Macdonald

KCS is not mutually exclusive with a school for Hanwell.

The area is growing, and will continue to grow.

Mactaquac Dam refurbishment will create hundreds of jobs and invest billions of dollars locally in the medium term.

Decreased KCS enrolment is linked to French immersion (especially move to Grade 1 program) rather than local population decrease, unlike other 409 schools.

The catchment area effects enrolment.

Local schools cannot easily absorb more students and construction of a school for Hanwell will take some time.

KCS is stable, though it won't stay open forever.

This process was initiated by March 2015 decision of the current government. There is no inherent urgency. Ultimate decision rests with the Minister.

- KCS is not mutually exclusive with a school for Hanwell.
- The area is growing, and will continue to grow.
- Mactaquac Dam refurbishment will create hundreds of jobs and invest billions of dollars locally in the medium term.
- Decreased KCS enrolment is linked to French immersion (especially move to Grade 1 program) rather than local population decrease, unlike other 409 schools
- The catchment area effects enrolment.
- Local schools cannot easily absorb more students and construction of a school for Hanwell will take some time.
- KCS is stable, though it won't stay open forever.
- This process was initiated by March 2015 decision of the current government. There is no inherent urgency. Ultimate decision rests with the Minister.

RECOMMENDATION:

KCS is needed into the medium term.
This is not the right time to close KCS.