This American site has information for students, parents and guidance counsellors. A variety of careers, grouped in clusters, can be researched through this site. Video links for numerous careers are on this site.

This federal and provincial site is an information resource for job search strategies, career planning tools, links to funding opportunities for post-secondary education, professional development workshops and opportunities to connect with a variety of government programs and services designed to help students develop a successful career.

This site has extensive career planning information including career planning resources and self-assessment tools for middle and high school students. There is occupational information including job and occupation profiles, career videos and industry and company research.

For kindergarten to high school youth, college students and adults, Career Kids offers a great selection of educational materials for careers, guidance, life skills, job search and workforce development.
